

CANNON GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

Hoboken Lawyer, Accused by Little Girls, Must Also Pay $1,000, the Full Penalty of the Law.

Charles Kinsey Cannon, the Hoboken lawyer, clubman and prominent churchman, who was convicted last Monday on criminal charges made by Carrie Albrecht, fourteen years old, and sixteen other little girls ranging in ages from eleven to fourteen years, was sentenced to-day by Judge Blair in General Sessions Court, Hudson County, to pay a fine of $1,000 and serve fifteen years in State Prison at hard labor. This is the extreme limit of the law. In imposing sentence Judge Blair said: "You were convicted last Monday on charges that gave me the painful duty of sentencing you. Your doings are almost incomprehensible, but the testimony of these little girls was such that brought about your conviction. I do not see how a man of your surroundings and means could have done the things you are charged with. Either you are mentally unsound, morally depraved, or a scoundrel. I am therefore under the law compelled to make you pay a fine of $1,000 and serve fifteen years in State Prison at hard labor." Joseph Bruno and Giuseppe Sattolli, two Armenians charged by the same girls who figured in the Cannon case, were tried and convicted to-day before Judge Blair and a panel jury.
